AltiGen KB

SQL Server AlwaysOn Availability Groups

This is an informational article about SQL Server AlwaysOn Availabliity Groups.
High availability is a strategy where multiple service nodes are synchronized in such a way that any given time one node is active. Other nodes in the cluster are configured in such a way that they can quickly become active if needed.

https://know.altigen.com/questions/1262/